

WHAT STUDENTS ARE SAYING

ZEHRA ABBAS
History and Gender Studies

“As a history major, it was essential to do this study abroad trip, because it contextualized the things I had learned in my classes. It's different to read about the Colosseum, but it's even better to actually visualize the Colosseum.”

GARRETT KAHRE
Mechanical Engineering

“My favorite part of this program is how the history seems to jump out at you. I remember one day towards the beginning of the program where we literally ran into the Pantheon. I mean how do you accidentally run into one of the most famous architectural buildings in the world!”

FRANKLIN
SPENCER
African American Studies

“I joined the Rome Study program because I plan on being a professor, and what a better way to get experience than seeing the ancient ruins for yourself! This way I could explain a history lecture from my own perspective.”

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

History can quiet the polarizing subject. It's one thing to read of centuries past in a textbook, an another to live among the city where it all took place.

ROME TRAVEL STUDY: ROMAN HISTORY & CLASSICS

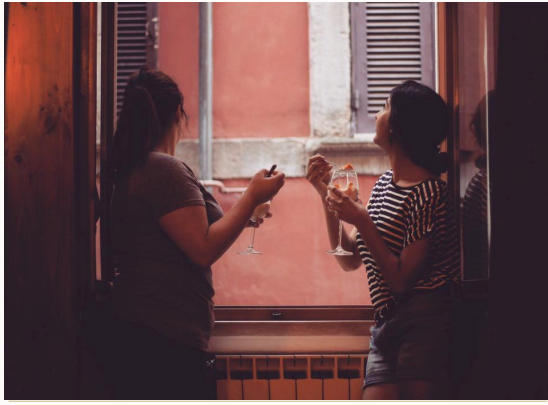

Explore the city of Rome and learn about its ancient history and monuments this summer.

Study the politics and culture of Rome from its earliest foundations on the Palatine hill to the triumph of the new religion of Christianity, and the subsequent collapse of an empire almost 1200 years later.

COURSE CREDITS

This course is a 24 day trip which provides insight to Rome's eras (Late Antique, Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Papal and secular, Fascist, and modern Rome of the 21st-century) by way of major monuments and sites. The city itself proves itself as an interactive classroom.

Course credit can be received as:

History 112C: The Ancient Mediterranean World - Rome

History 112E: The Monuments of Rome in Historical Context

or

Classics M114A: The Monuments of Rome in Historical Context

Classics M114B: The Ancient Mediterranean World - Rome

PROGRAM FEATURES

In this program, Rome is your actual classroom. Daily walking excursions to the major archaeological and cultural sites of the Eternal City, include ancient ruins, museums, churches, piazzas, columns, and Egyptian obelisks. Excursions to Pompeii and Tivoli are also planned.

POMPEII:

Spend a weekend (one night, optional two or three nights) stay at the well-preserved archaeological site of Roman Pompeii, an ancient city whose material culture was frozen in time by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius at the very height of the Pax Romana.

TIVOLI:

Students will take a one-day trip to picturesque Tivoli to see Hadrian's legendary villa and the sumptuous Villa d'Este. Between many ancient ruins, this beautiful villa will bring the luxury of Ancient Rome to life.

ANCIENT ROMAN SITES:

The Colosseum, the Roman and Imperial Fora, Seven Hills of Rome, Tiber Island, Pantheon, Augustan Altar of Peace, Baths of Caracalla, Column of Marcus Aurelius, Villa Giulia, Museum of Etruscan Art, Palazzo Massimo, St. Peter's Basilica, Vatican Museums, and countless more. Let the history of Rome blow you away.
