

2019 Financial Aid Guide to Summer Travel Study & Summer Institutes

SUMMER AID ELIGIBILITY

Please read this guide if you are interested in attending a Summer Travel Study or Summer Institute program at UCLA. Financial aid is available for:

- Entering and continuing undergraduate UCLA students
- Graduate students are eligible ONLY if the program is required to complete their graduate degree. You must provide a signed letter from your department indicating this program is necessary.

If you are interested in attending a Summer Travel Study Program or Summer Sessions at a different UC campus, please go to financialaid.ucla.edu for UCLA Cross Campus Summer Application information. Note that there are different summer programs each with respective applications and different deadlines.

Please note that you can only receive financial aid for one summer program per academic year. For instance, if you received financial aid for a Summer Travel program and upon completion of that program decide to enroll at UCLA Summer Sessions, you will not be eligible to receive any additional financial aid for the summer.

* Non-UCLA students should consult the Financial Aid Office at their home institution for information. We cannot provide financial aid for non-UCLA programs.

Students participating in UCEAP should refer to the Financial Aid Guide for the UC Education Abroad Program available on the Financial Aid and Scholarships website.

AWARDING OF FINANCIAL AID

Your summer financial aid award will cover the full cost of your summer program, such as course fees, housing, material fees, airfare, textbooks, meals, and personal expenses. Your awards will be based on the specific program and unit requirement. Maximum consideration will be given to students who complete their FAFSA/ DREAM Application by the March 2nd priority deadline.

Once your award is determined, a Financial Aid Notification (FAN) will be available for your review on MyUCLA. The Financial Aid and Scholarships office will notify you via e-mail when there is an FAN ready for you.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID AVAILABLE

GRANTS

To be considered for maximum grant eligibility your FAFSA or DREAM Act application must be submitted by the March 2nd priority filing deadline. These funds do not have to be repaid and are offered to eligible undergraduate students only. Summer aid can consist of one or more of the types of grants described below:

Federal Pell Grant

Pell Grants are Federal grants and eligibility is dependent on the student's expected family contribution and the number of units their summer program requires.

University Grant

These funds are provided by UCLA based on a student's need and the number of units required for the program taken during the summer. The additional 199 course will qualify for University Grant, if eligible. Only on-time applicants will be considered for University Grant eligibility during the summer. University Grants for summer 2018-2019 ranged from $1,300 to $2,600. University Grant funding for 2019-20 has yet to be determined, but will likely be similar to last year.

LOANS

Direct Loan Program (DL)

The Direct Loan Program consists of low-interest subsidized and unsubsidized loans funded by the federal government. Loans are available to undergraduate, graduate, and professional students and parents who are FAFSA filers, U.S. citizens or permanent residents.

Direct Subsidized Loans

Direct Subsidized Loans are long-term, low-interest loans that are funded by the U.S. Department of Education. Subsidized loans are only available to undergraduate students with financial need.

Direct Unsubsidized Loans

Direct Unsubsidized Loans are available to all eligible FAFSA applicants regardless of income. Interest accrues from the date of disbursement, but the extra costs of accrual can be avoided by making regular interest payments while in school.

Direct Loan (subsidized and unsubsidized) eligibility for the summer is based on the maximum annual loan limits. Direct loans offered during the summer are awarded only after student's full academic year eligibility is awarded.

Direct PLUS Loans

Direct PLUS Loans are designed to help graduate students and parent(s) of undergraduate students meet their educational costs. Graduate students and parent(s) may borrow up to the remaining cost of attendance, less any other financial aid received. Please see our website for the Parent PLUS loan application process.

If you are a first-time borrower at UCLA, you are required to complete a Master Promissory Note and a Debt Management Session before your loans can be disbursed.

To complete your Direct Loan Promissory Note, go to StudentLoans.gov

To complete a Debt Management Session, go to loans.ucla.edu

CALIFORNIA DREAM LOAN PROGRAM

The California DREAM Loan Program, provides loans under the same terms as federal subsidized loans for undocumented students who meet the DREAM Act Application requirements.

PRIVATE LOANS

Private Loans will be offered to students who receive the maximum award amounts under the federal loan program for academic year and still require additional funding. Private loans are funded by banks and lending institutions and often require a co-signer. Students and/or co-signers will have to pass a credit check, performed by the lender, before their private loans are approved.

For more information regarding the various loan programs available, please see our Undergraduate, Graduate and Private Loan Guides, available on our Forms and Publications Page.
